

TOP RIGHT: Cheery wallpaper serves as an apt backdrop to showcase an aged Louis XV sideboard chosen to house his-and-hers lavatories. Honeycomb marble tiles run to the freestanding tub, which is accentuated by a steel stool with a woven white leather seat.

BOTTOM RIGHT: A 19th-century Dutch dresser with a rainforest marble top stands below an 18th-century French mirror and vintage Murano wall sconces. A period Louis XV parlor chair and a French Art Nouveau clover top table round out the space.

FACING PAGE: An antique Italian cornice transforms into an intriguing canopy for the sleek tropical bed treatment surrounding the made-to-order white leather bed. Completing the fun, vibrant look are a vintage starburst mirror, a contemporary shaded chandelier, personalized side tables, and nickel nail heads highlighting the bold pattern of a rejuvenated Louis XV bergère and Waldorf Astoria ottoman.

*Designs by KMK Interiors
Photographs by Patrick Bertolino*

ABOVE LEFT: A tailor-made antiqued mirror wall covering trimmed in gilt egg moulding serves as a backsplash to the hammered copper bowl atop a historic Spanish sideboard. Imported Spanish floor tile coordinates well with the other details, as does the tailored ironwork in the window.

Photograph by Patrick Bertolino

ABOVE RIGHT: A Louis XV curved corner cabinet topped with rojo marble transforms into a petite lavatory base. Embedded in the tiled lower wall, also trimmed in rojo, are two Italian hand-carved marble collages with rolling landscapes etched onto the center ovals. The padded striped silk upper wall, trimmed in coordinating cording, holds a French traditional frame mirror.

FACING PAGE: While the furniture and wall panels are courtesy of Avignon, France, the walls are covered in grasscloth and the rug is an ancient Tabriz. All fabrics are plush natural fibers, and the drapery cornice integrates into the crown moulding completely.

*Designs by KMK Interiors
Photographs by Danny Piassick*

